“Thirty Under 30” Honorees Revealed by NKBA

The National Kitchen & Bath Association picks 30 outstanding young professionals for its prestigious recognition

HACKETTSTOWN, NJ — (Sept. 11, 2018) — The National Kitchen & Bath Association (NKBA), the de facto authority on all things residential kitchen and bath, will recognize its Thirty Under 30, Class of 2019, at the upcoming Kitchen & Bath Industry Show (KBIS®), to be held Feb. 19-21, 2019, in Las Vegas.

“We’re proud to introduce another outstanding class of accomplished young professionals,” said Bill Darcy, NKBA Chief Executive Officer. “We believe in a vibrant and robust future for this industry, and these talented individuals are standard-bearers and examples for their peers. Our aim is that this honor helps them in their continuing professional development, as they grow into their roles as the next generation of industry leaders.”

As has been the tradition in recent years, the incoming Thirty Under 30 class is tasked with a mission at KBIS. For 2019, the group will be split into 10 teams of three and asked to walk the show floor, seeking “Best of” products and innovations in several categories. Their winning picks will be presented with the inaugural “30s Choice Awards” on Thursday, Feb. 21 on the KBIS NeXT stage. It’s sure to provide some key insights about what the next generation views as important developments in all aspects of the kitchen and bath space, from advances in technology to design components and product innovations that will serve as game-changers for kitchens and baths today and in the future.

The 2019 Thirty Under 30 program is sponsored by Wilsonart and by Signature Kitchen Suite appliances.
